Jonny Jack creates naked, hooky, soul pop. Acoustic guitar led music bristling with soul, youthful vigour and big tent pop hooks.

From Glasgow and acclaimed by BBC introducing's Tom Robinson 'I find the vocal performance absolutely irresistible' - Jonny and band are currently working with producer Nick Brine (Oasis, Bruce Springsteen, Seasick Steve) on his debut album and are planning a massive 2018 including multiple major releases and tour.

A true undiscovered phenomenon, performing both solo and with band, Jonny has recently performed to sell-out crowds all over the UK supporting acts such as hero Damien Rice, Gabriella Cilmi and The View.

'I grew up in Glasgow, Scotland as the youngest of 3 brothers. Surrounded by the music of Ray Charles, Neil Young and Joe Cocker - I completely fell for the way those guys performed their songs with unshakable conviction. They just lived their songs. It's something I feel is sometimes lacking a little in popular music today. Since teaching myself how to play guitar aged 13 I've dedicated my life to creating meaningful, heart on your sleeve music and relentlessly touring the world. I play solo and with a backing band (depending on the venue) which includes my brothers Paul, Michael and good friend Douglas I'Anson'.

Over the past few years, Jonny has thrown himself into every aspect of serving an independent musical apprenticeship by writing, performing, managing and promoting his music. He has played hundreds of shows everywhere and anywhere from The Royal Concert Hall in Glasgow to The Troubadour in London. After the underground success from debut single Wide Open (single song deal with Three Six Zero Publishing) which spawned a nationwide UK tour and the independently released Skin To The Bone EP, Jonny has attracted music industry and media attention leading to airplay on BBC radio and playing a string of sold out shows. This has also led to life altering experiences supporting established artists such as Gabriella Cilmi, The View, Ronnie Wood and singing on stage with hero Damien Rice at the Usher Hall in Edinburgh.
